UNITED STATES SUPREME COURT RULING
TAYLOR vs TAINTOR 355 COON, 1873 SUPREME COURT

When given, the principle is regarded as delivered to the custody of his or her surety. Their domain is continuance of the original imprisonment. Whenever they choose to do so, they may seize him or her and deliver him or her up in their discharge, and if that cannot be at once; they may arrest and imprison him or her until it can be done. They may pursue him or her in another state; may arrest him or her on the Sabbath, if necessary they may break and enter his or her house for that purpose. The seizure is not made by new process, none is needed. It is likened to the re-arrest by the sheriff of an escaping prisoner.
